ADA DAVIS

Is Put on Trial for Murder of Bartender John Hammond

WORK OF SECURING JURY

SEVERAL EXCUSED BECAUSE OPPOSE CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Defendant Represented by B. C.
Smythe Prosecution by Jas.
R. Fitzgibbon

Nine jurors in the case of the State of Ohio against Miss Ada Davis, in which the defendant is charged with having fired the shot which killed John Hammond in the early morning of September 1, were excused by the court Monday morning because they were opposed to capital punishment as a penalty for first degree murder.

The case was called at 10:20 before Judge George Coyer, and the work of impaneling the jury was commenced at once. A short delay resulted over the absence of one of the attorneys in the case. The prisoner came into court shortly after 10 o'clock in the custody of Sheriff Redman and took her seat near her attorney, B. C. Smythe. Her face was expressionless and through the entire proceedings she took little interest in the events in the court rooms.

The first six jurors to be excused were James M. McVeigh, Levi Baker, Stanton Hoover, Charles M. Johnson, Albert Smoots, R. D. Brown. All stated to the court that they are opposed to capital punishment. Others excused on these grounds were F. L. Beggs, Isaac Grubb and James Linehan. Milton Kelsey was excused because he believed that he could not render an impartial verdict where the evidence introduced was circumstantial only.

C. H. Fisk was excused because of defective hearing, and Frank Fitzgibbon was relieved from duty because he is a brother of the prosecuting attorney. At 11:30 o'clock the court adjourned for the noon hour.

Ada Davis, the defendant in the trial now on in Common Pleas court, is charged with shooting John Hammond, a bartender, in her house, on Monroe street, East Newark.

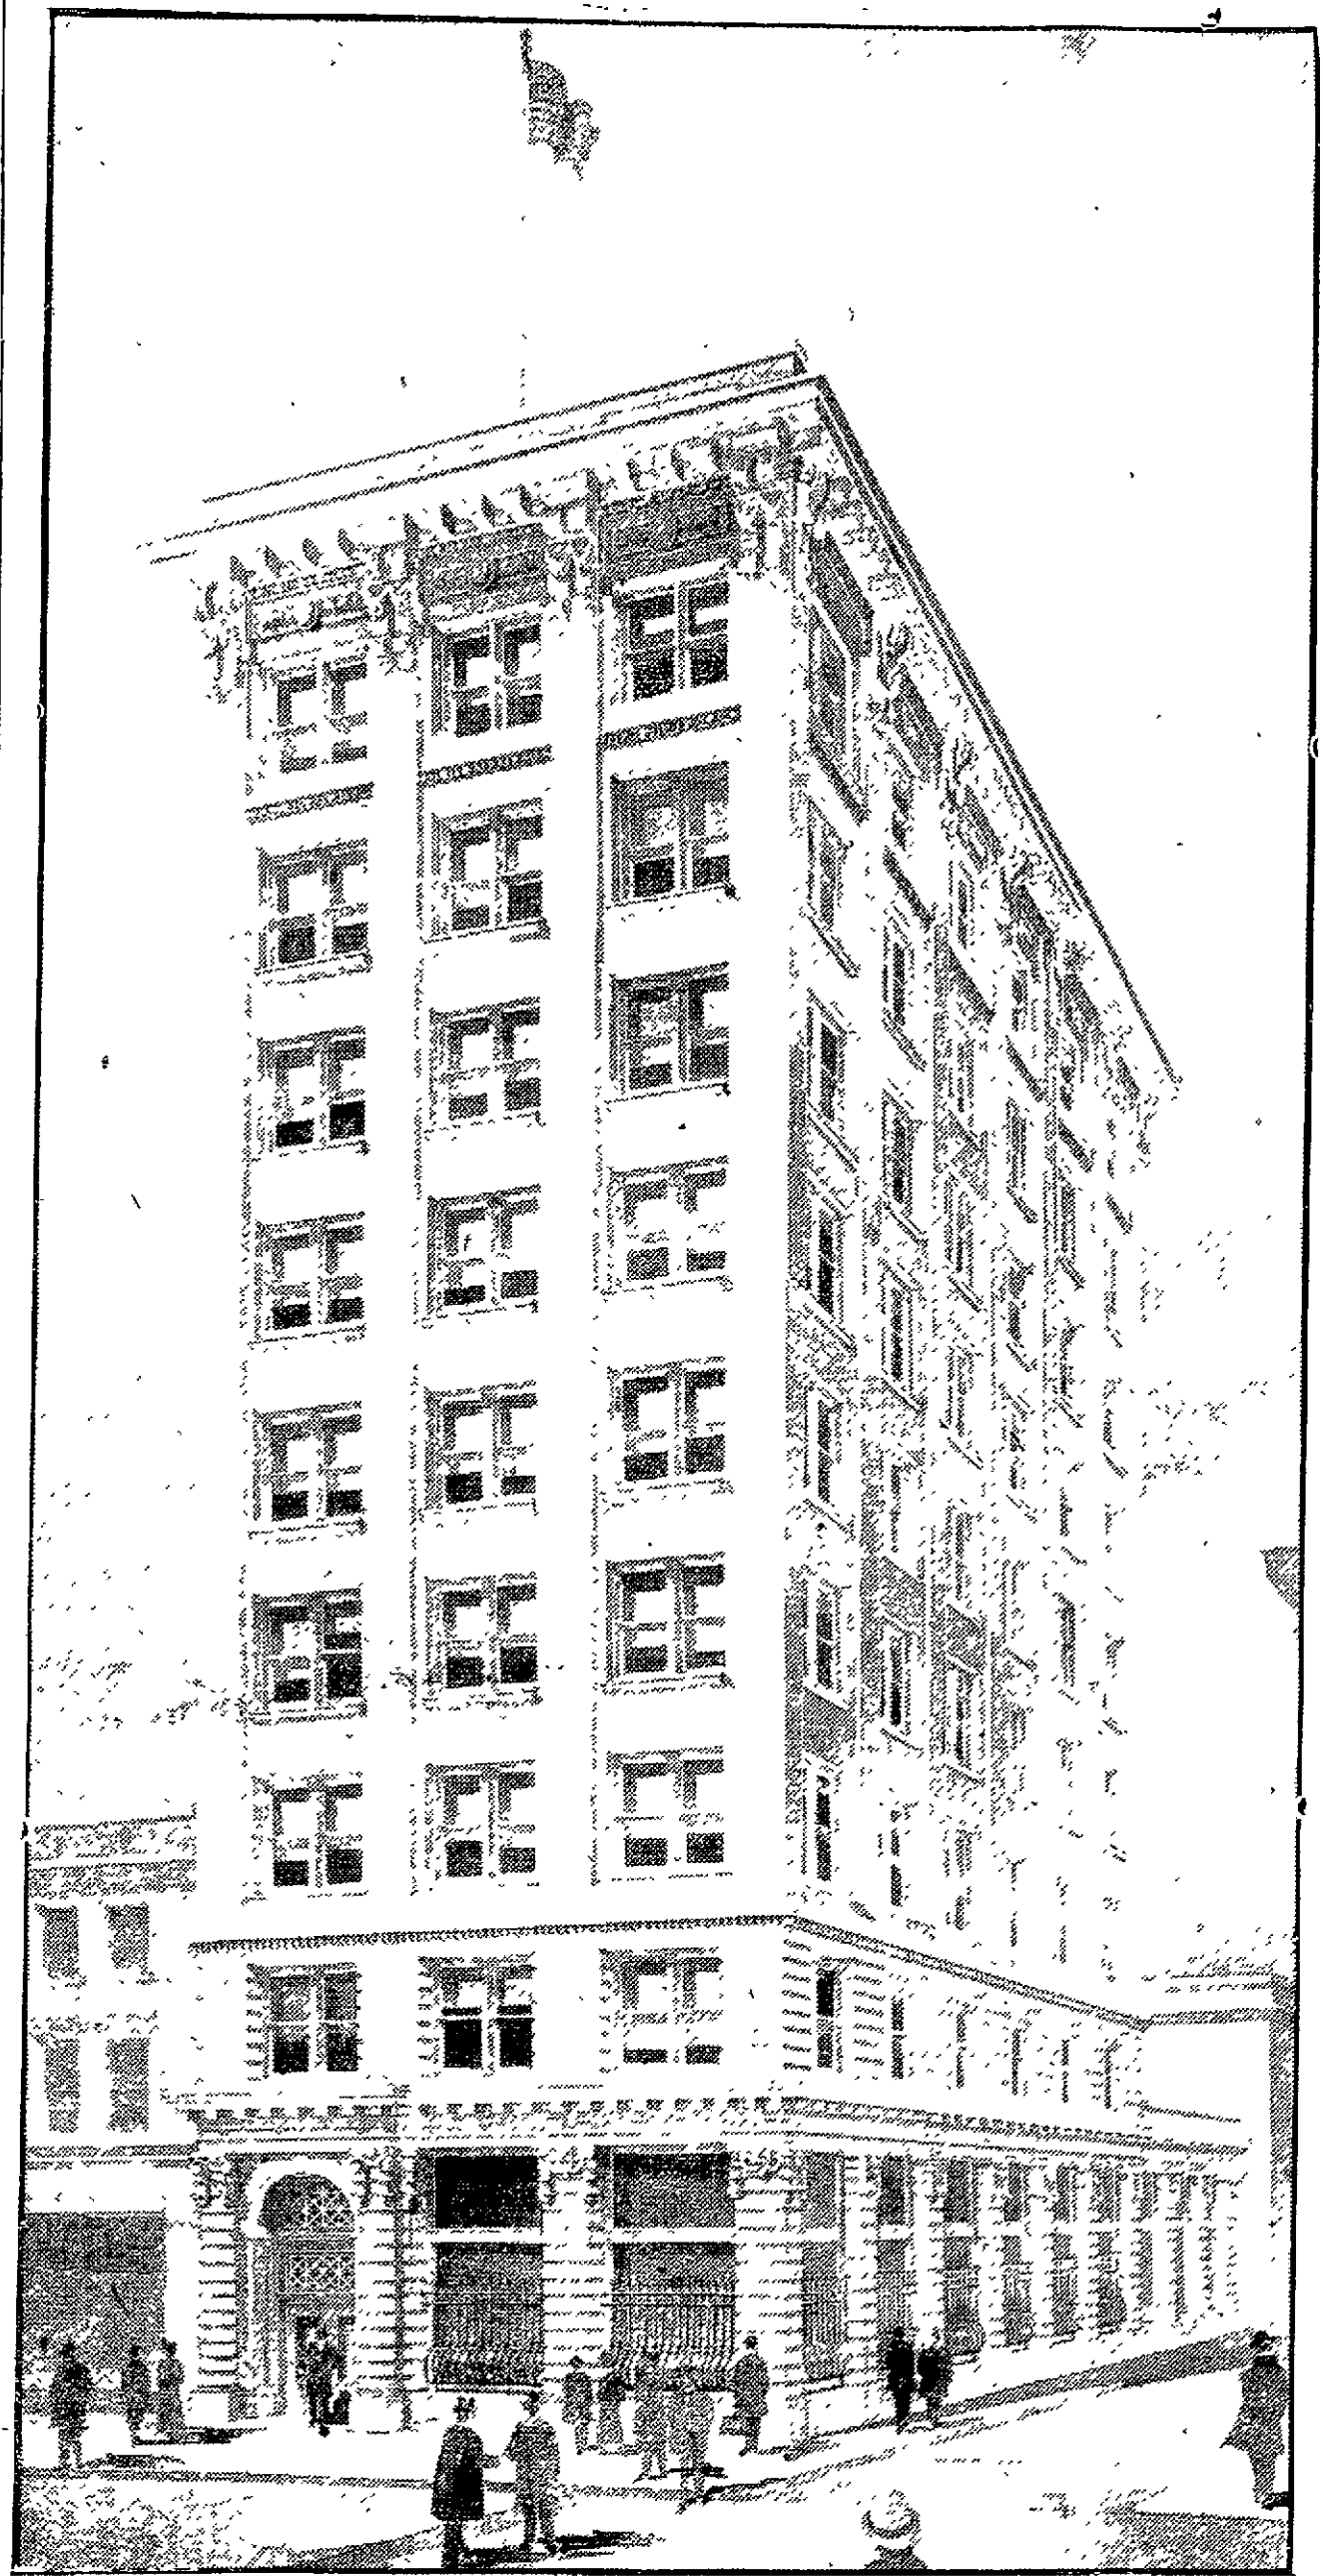

On his death bed John Hammond stated in the presence of witnesses, that the Davis woman shot him. Hammond is said to have been intoxicated at the time and the trouble resulted from a jealous quarrel, so it is said.

The deceased was a bartender, formerly of Zanesville, and was working for Charles Foster at his saloon in West Newark. The defendant formerly resided in Mary Ann township. The state claims that the deceased and the defendant had been living together for some time previous to the affair.

Upon the opening of court in the afternoon, Levi Herschberg was challenged by the State because he was opposed to capital punishment. John Swisher was challenged by the defense and was excused by the court. J. Allen Moore was next called. He also stated that he was opposed to capital punishment and was excused by the court. W. L. Thompson stated in answer to the questions of Prosecutor Fitzgibbon that he would hesitate in voting for conviction when he knew that the penalty inflicted might be death. Herbert E. Muslow was next called. He answered all the questions satisfactorily and was allowed to remain in the jury. J. S. Johnson was challenged by Attorney B. C. Smythe for the defense and was excused by the court. John Glynn was declared qualified. Attorney Smythe challenged A. W. Hersey and the juror was excused by the court. P. H. Giger of Union and Henry Wilkins of Mary Ann township were excused by the court upon the challenge of the State's attorney. Samuel Burt was called and was challenged and excused by the court. Samuel Albough of Newark was excused upon the challenge of Attorney Smythe. James W. Fulton of Burlington township was called in his place. P. H. Giger was challenged by the defendant's attorney and was excused. With eleven jurors in the box, the venire was exhausted. The men in the jury box are:

J. E. Montgomery, St. Albans twp.
Fred Freese, Eden twp.
Chas. R. Essey, Elma twp.
A. D. Burnside, St. Albans twp.
B. F. Stover, Lima twp.

NEWARK TRUST COMPANY'S TEN STORY OFFICE BUILDING

The accompanying picture shows the ten-story fire proof office building which will be erected next spring by the Newark Trust company on the northwest corner of the public square, where Elliott & Wilson's store and Evans' barber shop now stand. The plans were drawn by Architects Richards, McCarty & Bulford of Columbus.

The structure, which will be Newark's first skyscraper, will be the largest and most modern building ever erected in a city the size of Newark, which now has over 26,000 inhabitants. The building will be 38

B. L. Montgomery, Newark.
The panel in the Ada Davis murder case was exhausted Monday afternoon and the court ordered a special venire to be drawn from the jury wheel. In order to allow the men whose names were drawn from the wheel, to be subpoenaed, the court ordered an adjournment until 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. Clerk Hursey at once drew additional names from the wheel.

Owing to the case now on trial being likely to continue the balance of this week the case of Ohio vs. Levi Bevard will in all probability be continued until the next term of court.

Information was filed at Council Bluffs, Iowa, charging Pat Crowe, the alleged kidnaper of Eddie Cudahy, with highway robbery.

by 126 feet and will have 120 rooms, divided into 90 suites of offices.

The entire lower floor will be fitted up into banking quarters for the Newark Trust company. The interior finish will be elaborate as will be the finish of the entire interior of the structure.

The upper floors will be arranged into offices. Modern elevators will be installed and the structure will be equal to most of the large office buildings in the largest cities.

The contract for the steel work will be awarded soon, but the general contract will not be let until spring. It is expected to have it completed by the first of September, 1906.

The first story, which is equal in height to two ordinary stories, will run back its full height about 55 feet, at which point it will be divided into two stories.

At the meeting of the stockholders of the Newark Trust company held on November 29, it was decided to increase the capital stock from $100,000 to $200,000 and to add $50,000 to the present surplus fund. This additional capital and surplus of $150,000 will be more than enough to pay for the new building and fixtures.

JAKE NOBLE

Who Killed Officer Holliday in Kentucky, Sunday, is Still at Large.

Jackson, Ky., Dec. 11.—Jake Noble, who shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Grant Holliday here yesterday, is still at large and it is likely that he will not surrender to the Harbors officials. Noble is an anti-Harbor man and belongs to the big family of Nobles, who fought the Harbors faction, defeating them at the late election. Noble has always defied arrest by the Harbors of Kentucky. He was taken together at Xenia, O. He was taken ill with pneumonia and died. Both sides are armed and renewed hostilities are imminent.

SLIDING TARIFF

Favored by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts—Only Reform Measure That Can Pass.

Washington, Dec. 11.—No one now expects any effort to modify the tariff in the present Congress unless in the direction of a minimum and maximum rate. The Massachusetts senator regards this proposition with much favor and will support it strenuously, if he receives any encouragement to do so.

Mrs. Julius A. Kendrick, aged 76, and her sister, Mrs. Malinda Snodgrass, 74, were taken together at Xenia, O. They were taken ill with pneumonia and died. Both sides are armed and renewed hostilities are imminent.

POSTMEN

Are Now Underpaid Says Mr. Cortelyou in His Annual Report

HE WOULD IMPROVE SERVICE

RECOMMENDS THAT THIRD AND FOURTH CLASS BE MERGED

At Rate of One Cent for Two Ounces --Years Receipts and Expenditures.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Postmaster General George B. Cortelyou, in his annual report for the past fiscal year, says that while a self-sustaining condition of the postoffice department would be gratifying, he is less concerned about the deficit than the efficiency of administration. For the fiscal year 1905 the total receipts from all sources were $152,826,585, and total expenditures $167,181,959, leaving a deficit of $14,355,374. In connection with these figures the postmaster general directs attention to the increased amount of free matter handled, which he says averaged 12.58 per cent of the entire weight carried, or a loss of $19,822,000.

The work of purifying the mails is not confined to the suppression of frauds and lotteries, but includes as well the exclusion therefrom of obscene, indecent and scurrilous matter and the punishment of those found to have deposited such matter for transmission. He adds that a more strict enforcement of these statutes recently has brought about good results. Governmental control of the pneumatic tube service is recommended, and in the later case an appropriation is asked to purchase wagons of approved pattern for carrying the mails. The postmaster general states an effective domestic parcels post system could be organized on the same lines substantially as express companies conduct their service and as parcels post service is conducted in other countries. While he does not deem it wise at this time to ask congress for such a system, he earnestly recommends that third and fourth class mail matter be merged at the rate of one cent for two ounces.

The work of the postoffice inspectors is praised and the opinion is expressed that many of them are underpaid. A similar view is expressed with respect to postoffice clerks and letter carriers, city and rural.

Interest in the enactment of legislation looking to the upbuilding and encouragement of the American merchant marine is set forth as a reason for improving the transportation of mails to foreign countries.

Year's Immigration.
In annual report of the bureau of immigration, Commissioner General Sargent refers to the magnitude and gravity of the problems presented by the growth of the alien population of the United States. The total alien arrivals reported for the year 1904, 1,400,499, represents an increase over the preceding year of 217,629. At the ports the increase was 1,845, although the arrivals at Porto Rico were less by 51,000 in 1904. There also was a large increase in arrivals at northern ports, and a decrease at southern ports, which is shown for the Pacific ports, which are affected by some measure by the Russian Japanese war. Of the increase arrivals referred to, Austria-Hungary contributed 58,737 over its quota of 1904, Russia 1,777, Italy, 2,183, and the United States 4,771. This increase from the last reported year is shown in the following table:

somewhat offset by the decreases from Germany, Switzerland and Sweden.

The first measure that will receive the attention of the senate will be the Panama canal emergency appropriation bill, and its consideration will begin this week. Some senators predict that it will become a law before the close of the week, but others express the opinion that final action will be deferred until the week following. There will be no effort to prevent the passage of the bill in some shape, but there will be some opposition to the proposed restoration of the $5,500,000 subtracted by the house from the amount to be appropriated. Regardless of the sum, the bill will be utilized as a basis for the general discussion of the canal question.

HOUSE ADJOURNS.
Washington, Dec. 11.—The House adjourned at 12:55 this afternoon until Wednesday.

ASSISTANCE IS ANNOUNCED.
Newport, R. I., Dec. 11.—Assistance has been sent the Nantucket South Shoal Lightship No. 53 crew. The vessel sprang a leak yesterday. Nothing has been heard from the lightship since early this morning, when help was called. The lighthouse tender Azalea, revenue cutter Gresham, and gunboat Hist are giving aid.

SHOT WIFE

Then Himself Because She Persisted in Speaking to Another Man.

Wheeling, W. Va., Dec. 11.—Because his wife persisted in speaking to another man, Charles Snyder this morning shot her and then shot himself. Both are in the hospital in a dying condition. Snyder it is claimed repeatedly asked his wife to refrain from recognizing the man, and when she replied that she would speak to him whenever she desired he shot her in the mouth, then fired a bullet into his right temple.

FARMERS

Object to Perfume of Letters and Complain to Washington.

Washington, Dec. 11.—The rural free delivery carrier, at Little Hocking, Washington county, O., must give up either the business of selling skunk skin or his job. For some time, according to a complaint received by Postmaster General Cortelyou, the carrier has been combining the two vocations with the result that the farmers' letters and newspapers have been delivered in a highly odorous condition.

DIVORCE

Sought by Parties Married 41 Years--Charges are Unusual.

Painesville, O., Dec. 11.—After 41 years of married life, Jacob C. Remelius of Leroy, is seeking a divorce. His wife, Katherine, has filed a cross petition claiming on one occasion her husband pulled her arm out of joint, and that she had to go to the woods to chop wood to pay for his tobacco bills and keep the family going. Remelius says his wife is the boss and pulled his whiskers. Both parties are over sixty and have grandchildren. Justice Metcalf will probably give his decision today.

St. Petersburg, Saturday, via Edyt-kunnen, Dec. 11.—Dissatisfaction is spreading among the troops because of the Czar's order returning thanks to the Cossacks for loyal services, without mentioning the other troops. Reactionists among the soldiers are using the Czar's words to persuade soldiers that they have been insulted by the Czar (that he no longer believes in their loyalty) and that this has exonerated them from their oath of loyalty. The reactionaries are gaining the ascendancy at Tzarskoe-Selo. The Central government no longer exists except in name. The Czar's orders are disregarded by nearly all the local officials who act wholly on their own authority in dealing with local affairs.

CRISIS

In Financial Situation of Russia is Rapidly Approaching

BIG EFFORT TO BREAK STRIKE

DISSATISFACTION IS SPREADING AMONG THE TROOPS

Witte Urged to Summon National Assembly--Gen. Trepoft's Successor Has Resigned.

(Bulletin.)

Cracow, Poland, Dec. 11.—Advices received here today state that a fresh general mutiny has broken out among the soldiers at Kieff. A new mutiny of sailors and soldiers at Sevastopol is also reported today.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 10, via Edyt-kunnen, Dec. 11.—A crisis is rapidly approaching in the financial situation in Russia. The panic which has threatened to work greater damage than even the labor disturbances have caused, apparently cannot be much longer forestalled unless there is a radical change in the political and industrial situation and the government faces bankruptcy. The seriousness of the situation is shown by the action taken by financiers and capitalists to urge the government to something which will improve the situation and turn aside the threatened panic.

Prominent financiers here and at Moscow have sent urgent petitions to Witte asking him to summon a national assembly immediately saying that unless this is done, a financial crisis is inevitable and that this will probably result in the nation becoming bankrupt. At a meeting of members of the bourse a resolution was proposed urging the government to take some action to stem the financial panic. The authorities are particularly urged to see to it that another general strike is avoided at any cost. If another general strike does come the warning is given that it is certain to result in national bankruptcy.

Members of the bourse fear the arrest of members of the executive committee of the workingmen's council will result in another general strike. The arrest of the labor leaders has caused the greatest indignation among the workingmen. The action of the government in directing that these men be taken into custody is condemned generally.

Indignation meetings were held yesterday and the action of the government was denounced as the final indication that absolutely no faith can be placed in the Czar's reported good intentions. The workmen declared that they no longer have faith in any person coming in contact with the Czar, who exercises a contaminating influence. A new executive council of the workingmen has been elected to take up the work of the leaders who were arrested, and full power has been given the new council to direct the revolutionary movement. The moderates all denounced the arrest of labor leaders as a serious blunder on the part of the government and a needless exercise of autocratic power. They assert that the arrests can do no good because the workmen elect new members of the executive committee of their council as fast as arrests are made. The only result of making such arrests is to further estrange the government and the workmen.

General Dedulin, successor of General Trepoft as prefect of police in St. Petersburg, has resigned. It is believed General Mayendorff will succeed him. The peasants continue to cause great destruction in the provinces.

St. Petersburg, Sunday, via Edyt-kunnen, Dec. 11.—I nan effort to put an end to the postal and telegraph strike, M. Durnovo, minister of the interior has announced that $250,000 will be distributed among the employees of these two departments who return to work. All who refuse this offer will be dismissed from the service.

MORRISON IS NAMED.

Washington, Dec. 11.—The President sent the nomination to the Senate today of Chas. E. Morrison of Illinois for United States district attorney in the northern Illinois district.

MITCHELL'S DEATH ANNOUNCED.

Washington, Dec. 11.—The Senate today announced the death of Senator Mitchell. The despatch read:

Mr. Bowser a Different Man

He Actually Behaves Like a Rational Being, Much to Every One's Surprise.

INNOCENT AS A LAMB

Mrs. B. Becomes Greatly Alarmed at His Good Conduct, and So Does Her Mother.

[Copyright, 1905, by McClure, Phillips & Co.]
AM Mr. Bowser's mother-in-law. I am probably the only woman on earth he is afraid of and who can handle him when he gets one of his tantrums on.

A few days ago I received a letter from my daughter to the effect that he seemed to be getting ready to break out in a new spot, and as soon as I could put up my fall pickles and chow-chow I put on my bonnet and made a start.

I never let Mr. Bowser know when I am coming. My object is to walk in and catch him at it and then stop him dead still in his tracks. On this occasion I reached the house an hour before he came up from the office. I learned that there had been no out-break as yet, but that he had been hinting around about buying a hog and some hens for the winter and that he would probably stand upon his hind legs and howl when the last month's gas bill came in.

I was ready for him. I could see him from the window as he got off the car and came along down

"HOWDY DO, MOTHER?" SAID MR. BOWSER, the street. He wasn't scuffing his feet and lopping one shoulder down, as he always does when things have gone wrong with him, and when he reached the gate he did not kick it open. In fact, he was smiling and evidently in the best of good nature. I had scattered three or four clothespins on the front steps, and he picked them up as he came in. He ought to have roared out at the top of his voice as soon as he opened the door. He ought to have shouted that that was the worst run house in America and that it was no wonder he was living in the shadow of the poorhouse.

But Mr. Bowser entered the hall as quietly as a lamb. He greeted his wife with a kiss, and, holding out the clothespins to her, he said:

"Some of the neighbors' children must have brought these over to play with and forgotten them."

She then informed him that the cook had been suddenly called to the bedside of her dying mother and that he must not expect much of a dinner. I looked to hear him shout out that she had probably driven the cook away by her tyranny and that if he was a servant he wouldn't work for her if she was the last woman on earth. But to my astonishment he simply replied:

"Well, I know you have done the best you can, and I shall have no fault to find with you."

At this juncture I descended the stairs and stood before him.

"Howdy do, mother?" he said as he reached out his hand. "If I'd only known you were coming I'd have met you at the depot with a carriage. I am glad to see you looking so well."

It was hard to believe that my son-in-law was speaking to me in that kindly way and evidently meaning every word he said, but I had to accept it. At dinner the meat was tough and the coffee not up to its usual standard, and every minute I was hoping that Mr. Bowser would break out. Not a word from him, however—that is, not a word of fault finding. On the contrary, after chewing away for three or four minutes on a mouthful of steak he smilingly said:

"I think this meat would have been improved by pounding with a sledge hammer, but of course it's nobody's fault but the butcher's. Mother, can I help you to anything else? Mrs. Bowser, some more potatoes?"

No dinner ever passed off more pleasantly. Two or three funny things had happened to Mr. Bowser during the day, and he recounted them in a funny way. For some years past, as I have it on the best of authority, he has been in the habit of referring to me as his "blamed old mother-in-law." There was nothing of this kind now. It was "mother" this and "mother" that, and he appeared to be really concerned about my rheumatism.

While Mrs. Bowser and I were doing up the dishes I asked her if she had ever seen Mr. Bowser in such a spell before. She never had, and she worried for fear that he was going to die. A fortune teller had once told her that before Mr. Bowser died he would become almost an angel, and it seemed to her that this was the beginning of the end. I didn't look at it that way. Having had a husband of my own, I know something about their fits and fads. My husband used to get these pussy-cat spells on at long intervals, and then nothing was too good for me. He'd even buy me three calico dresses at once. Three days later he'd be shouting "Woman!" at me until he could be heard half a mile away.

When we were ready to sit down for the evening we found Mr. Bowser with the cat in his lap. He looked as innocent and harmless as a boy three years old.

"Are you thinking of buying a hog this fall?" I asked in an aggressive tone.

"A hog, mother? Why, of course not."

"Are you looking around for hens?"

"Not at all, mother. What do we want of hens or a hog?"

"On two occasions, as I have been told, you have attempted to take that cat's life."

"Yes, mother, it is true, but never again will I plot and plan against her. It was a contemptible thing on my part."

"Are you thinking of fooling around with the furnace, the gas meter, the water pipes or the doorbells this fall?" I asked.

"No, mother," he quietly replied as he continued to stroke the cat's back.

"I suppose you know, don't you, that the gas bill for the last month is a dollar and a half more than for the month before?"

"Only a dollar and a half? I thought it would be two dollars more at the very least. I think Mrs. Bowser is one of the most economical women about burning gas that there is in the state. I have often wondered how she kept the bills so low."

I was making no progress, and I saw that Mrs. Bowser was getting very nervous. I determined to take the bull by the horns, and I did so by saying:

"Lemuel, there are a few things I want to speak to you about."

"Yes, mother."

"The cook may not come back for three or four days."

"Well, you will hear no complaints from me."

"Coal has gone up 25 cents a ton."

"So I've been told. I expected it would go fifty."

"I've been telling Sarah that she ought to go to the theater now and then."

"Of course she had, and I stand ready to go with her any night."

"She needs handkerchiefs, gloves and other things, but you are always talking about her extravagance and so—"

"Her extravagance!" he interrupted. "Why, mother, she is one of the most economical women in the world! What ever she needs she shall have right away. I'll give her money in the morning, and you two can go down shopping."

"There's another little matter. When you come home out of sorts you roar and shout around here as if you were a tin god. As a matter of fact, Mr. Bowser, you are not the only pebble on the beach—not by a long shot. If you were my husband and you came roaring around I'd throw the teapot at you."

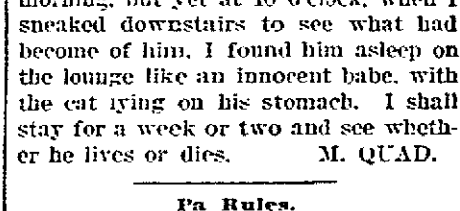

"And you'd be right, mother—perfectly right," he replied. "I know I roar and shout and think I'm the whole show, and I sometimes wonder how Mrs. Bowser stands it. It simply shows what a dear, good woman she is."

"And every time you get beaten in an argument you yell 'Woman!' at her and talk of a divorce. The next time you do it I want her to walk out of the house and get a divorce from you. Do you hear me, Lemuel?"

"I do, mother, and you are perfectly right—perfectly right. I couldn't have blamed her if she had got a divorce long ago, but she'll never have occasion again to apply."

Well, what could I do with such a man? An uncanny feeling began to creep over me, and Sarah and I went upstairs and put our arms around each other and cried. It seemed to us that Mr. Bowser would be an angel before morning, but yet at 10 o'clock, when I sneaked downstairs to see what had become of him, I found him asleep on the lounge like an innocent babe, with the cat lying on his stomach. I shall stay for a week or two and see whether he lives or dies. M. QUAD.

Protest of Railway Employees.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—A resolution protesting against the placing in the hands of the interstate commerce commission of railroad rate-making powers was adopted at a meeting here of representatives of the different railroad brotherhoods in Cook county. The meeting was attended by 53 delegates. The resolution declares that "any interference with the earning power of the railroad will be detrimental to the railroad employees, render harder the conditions now existing, and would be used as a bar toward any future movement on our part for the betterment of wages or conditions."

Is Shot and Killed.

Bedford, Ind., Dec. 11.—Lemuel Lynch, 21, who came here recently from Morgantown, N. C., was shot and instantly killed by Benjamin Rhoades. The shooting occurred at the home of Rhoades. Lynch had been paying attention to Rhoades' niece, and when he came to the house for a social call Rhoades came to the door and shot him in the breast with a shotgun. Rhoades, who was arrested, claims that Lynch had been drinking and attempted to force his way into the house after being warned not to do so.

Lynched by Negro Mob.

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 11.—Jim Green, a negro, has been lynched at Boyle, Miss., by members of his race. Green had assaulted a negro girl aged eight years. He was captured at Shaw Station and returned to the scene of his crime. A posse of negroes took him from his captors and hung him to the limb of a tree.

NEW INDOOR TARGET.

Maine Official's Simple Device For Rifle Practice.

Major John J. Dooley of Portland, Me., assistant inspector general of rifle practice, has perfected a target for rifle practice in armories by organizations of the national guard, says a Portland special to the New York World.

The target is composed of two thicknesses of plank, supported by a frame resting on a base which holds the target upright and allows of its being moved to any part of the armory. There is a small space between the front and rear sections of the target, and while on the front section is placed the target itself there is on the rear section a steel plate to prevent the bullets penetrating both sections. The space between the sections allows the bullets to drop to the floor after they have struck the steel plate. The front section is so arranged that the pieces against which the target will rest and which will of necessity become badly perforated after continued use can be removed by sliding them from the frame and new pieces substituted.

"PORK AND" LOOKING UP.

Austrian Prince to Introduce Savory Dish to His Princess.

Pork and beans in the pan, family style, is about to be introduced to the tables of the nobility of Austria, says a special dispatch from Stamford, Conn., to the New York World.

Dr. Robert T. Morris of New York recently had as guest at his country place, Merriellbrook, the Prince of Colorado Manfred of Austria, who was treated by the housekeeper, Mrs. J. C. Wright, to an old fashioned New England dinner, with pumpkin pie, apple sauce, homemade pickles and pork and beans. The latter won the royal guest's heart.

"You must give me the recipe for preparing this delicious dish," said the prince. And the proud housekeeper wrote it down. The prince said he would see to it that his princess introduced the dish into his castle.

How a Dog Found $10,000 in Gold.

The incident of a Chesapeake bay dog recently resulted in the discovery of gold dust worth $10,000 hidden in the home of George E. Adams, the self-confessed defunct cashier of the United States assay office in Seattle, Wash., says a dispatch from that city to the Kansas City Times. When the secret service operatives entered the Adams home to make a search they culminated the acquaintance of the dog, which is a trained retriever. A few minutes later he came walking up to the operatives with a package containing gold dust in his mouth. With this incentive the searchers set to work with a will, and underneath the tons of coal stored in the basement they found several more packages containing dust.

The better class of Japanese who have been living in California are coming home in large numbers. They think there is more chance to make money in Korea and Manchuria.

WANT PAY INCREASED

Anthracite Miners This Week Will Likely Ask for 10 to 20 Per Cent. More.

Shamokin, Pa., Dec. 11.—It was stated at the Ninth district headquarters that the anthracite miners at the tri-district convention this week would, among other demands, likely ask for an increase of wages of from 10 to 20 per cent. President Mitchell and his lieutenants will hold a preliminary convention caucuses here Tuesday night. The delegates representing the contract miners will oppose the demand for the eight-hour working day on the ground that it would compel the contract miners to ask for a readjustment of prices for contract work, which the operators would be certain to refuse.

Protest of Railway Employees.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—A resolution protesting against the placing in the hands of the interstate commerce commission of railroad rate-making powers was adopted at a meeting here of representatives of the different railroad brotherhoods in Cook county. The meeting was attended by 53 delegates. The resolution declares that "any interference with the earning power of the railroad will be detrimental to the railroad employees, render harder the conditions now existing, and would be used as a bar toward any future movement on our part for the betterment of wages or conditions."

In Common Pleas.

Fred Goldstreich vs. L. T. Cashdollar, et al., decree of foreclosure. Fulton & Fulton.

Harrington vs. Willey.

In the case of William Harrington against Martha J. Willey and William T. Willey, wherein the plaintiff brings suit to recover $600, claiming that defendants sold him land in Mary Ann township, giving him a deed for a certain portion of the property which he claims did not belong to them, the defendants have filed their answer. They admit that plaintiff was evicted from a portion of the real estate by Franklin Wilkin, by what purports to be a judgment and decree of the Common Pleas Court of Licking county at the September term, 1905. The defendants claim, however, that it was not a decree and judgment of the court upon a hearing of the action, but was a decree and judgment obtained by Franklin Wilkin against the plaintiff Harrington by agreement with Harrington, and with his consent. The defendants say that no jury was empaneled, no testimony was heard, no argument of counsel, no charge of the court and that there was no retirement of the jury, but that a verdict was drawn up by agreement between Franklin Wilkin and Harrington; that it was signed by R. P. Ford as foreman; that the signature of Ford was obtained by agreement between Wilkin and Harrington, and with the full knowledge and consent of Harrington, and without the knowledge and consent of the defendants.

The defendants claim that the plaintiff has not been damaged in the sum of $600 or in any other sum, and ask that the plaintiff's petition be dismissed and that they go hence with their costs. Charles W. Montgomery and Carl Norpell, attorneys for the defendants.

Thomas vs. Taylor.

MRS. LEROY REEVES WANTS A DIVORCE

AND ASKS FOR RESTORATION OF HER MAIDEN NAME, BERTHA SUMMERS.

Decree of Foreclosure—Realty Transfers—Daily Budget From the Court House.

A petition has been filed in the Probate court by Bertha L. Reeves asking for a divorce from Leroy Reeves. Mrs. Reeves says she was married to Leroy Reeves on April 4, 1903, and that no children were born of the marriage. She says her husband failed to provide a home for her, and that her clothes were furnished by her parents. Mrs. Reeves says that on account of the cruelty of her husband, and his failure to provide for her, she has not lived with her husband, and has provided a living for herself. She asks for a divorce and restoration of her maiden name of Bertha L. Summers. Frank A. Bolton, attorney.

In Common Pleas.

Fred Goldstreich vs. L. T. Cashdollar, et al., decree of foreclosure. Fulton & Fulton.

Harrington vs. Willey.

In the case of William Harrington against Martha J. Willey and William T. Willey, wherein the plaintiff brings suit to recover $600, claiming that defendants sold him land in Mary Ann township, giving him a deed for a certain portion of the property which he claims did not belong to them, the defendants have filed their answer. They admit that plaintiff was evicted from a portion of the real estate by Franklin Wilkin, by what purports to be a judgment and decree of the Common Pleas Court of Licking county at the September term, 1905. The defendants claim, however, that it was not a decree and judgment of the court upon a hearing of the action, but was a decree and judgment obtained by Franklin Wilkin against the plaintiff Harrington by agreement with Harrington, and with his consent. The defendants say that no jury was empaneled, no testimony was heard, no argument of counsel, no charge of the court and that there was no retirement of the jury, but that a verdict was drawn up by agreement between Franklin Wilkin and Harrington; that it was signed by R. P. Ford as foreman; that the signature of Ford was obtained by agreement between Wilkin and Harrington, and with the full knowledge and consent of Harrington, and without the knowledge and consent of the defendants.

The defendants claim that the plaintiff has not been damaged in the sum of $600 or in any other sum, and ask that the plaintiff's petition be dismissed and that they go hence with their costs. Charles W. Montgomery and Carl Norpell, attorneys for the defendants.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is in Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vipers may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

EVANGELISTS

Opposed by the Presbyterian Banner, Which Says That Many Are Getting Rich.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 11.—The Presbyterian Banner editorially opposes the so-called evangelists. The editor says that too many evangelists are attracted to the calling because of the large remuneration afforded the workers. It is pointed out that most evangelists refuse to accept a stated sum for their services and insist upon being recompensed by free will offerings from the congregations.

The Banner holds that this is manifestly unfair to all concerned, as the evangelist must receive either too much or too little. It asserts it has knowledge of instances where evangelists received from $1,200 to $2,000 for short campaigns and mentions two who are accredited with an income of $25,000 a year. The Banner contends that evangelists should be paid as a regular minister is paid, and concludes:

"When the spirit of money-making gets into the business its doom will be upon it."

ELECTION CASE

Several Rulings are Made in Joint Sessions by Judges Miller and Kirby.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 11.—Several rulings on questions involving pleadings of the Fusionists in their contest suits for the offices of all persons elected on the Democratic ticket in Louisville and Jefferson county at the November election were made in joint session by Judges Miller and Kirby. Save in one or two minor instances the sweeping motion of the Democrats to strike about 50 pages of matter from the petitions of the Fusionists, which it was charged was vague and misleading, was overruled. However, the Democrats' motion to make the petitions more specific where particular precincts are attacked is sustained. The judges upheld the motion of the Fusionists to appoint a receiver for the election paraphernalia for all the precincts which have been called into question by the Fusionists.

Tonsilne Cures Sore Throat

The throat is one of the most delicate parts of the body. It is also one of the most important, and should be given the best possible care.

The throat is the gateway to the body. The air we breathe, the food we eat, the liquids we drink, all pass through it. It is very easily affected by cold, strain, exposure, etc., and Sore Throat is therefore one of our most common ailments. Strangely enough, it is also one of the most neglected.

Sore Throat is a very serious matter, for the whole system is in danger in consequence of it.

Every Sore Throat patient is a candidate for Tonsilne Cure, Diphtheria and other serious or fatal diseases, all of which can be prevented by the effective use of the Sore Throat Cure TONSILNE.

If taken in time, one or two will do it.

Mr. Roosevelt's Inconsistency

In his message to the new Congress President Roosevelt made the recommendation that all contributions to any political committee be forbidden by law. Just how the President felt when writing that recommendation and reflecting on recent disclosures which prompted it may be imagined. A year ago this fall when the country was a candidate before the President the press referred to what it termed the scandalous action of George B. Cortelyou, then chairman of the Republican national committee and selected by the President to manage his campaign, now a member of the President's cabinet as he was before taking the political job, the action referred to being the collection of campaign funds from corporations to aid the candidacy of the President. Judge Parker, the Democratic candidate, denounced the Republican chairman's action toward the close of the campaign, and the President, stung by the words of Parker, came out in a statement in emphatic terms denying the charges that Cortelyou had been calling on corporations and taking funds from them to swell the funds of his committee. Yet a year had not passed when the life insurance corporations by the testimony of their officials, under investigation were shown to have contributed large sums to Mr. Cortelyou's committee and the prospect is that it will be brought out that other large sums were contributed by other corporations, and now the President in one short year from the time when he made his vehement statement to the American people recommends to Congress that it enact a law to forbid all contributions by corporations to political committees, or, in other words, a law to forbid what he declared had not been done but which was shown to have been done.

All Vermont is said to have been shocked because of the terrible bungling in the hanging of Mrs. Rogers, and one of the officials connected with the affair is reported to have declared that it would be the last execution that would take place in the state. There has been a general protest raised throughout the country against the hanging of any more women and in some cases for the entire abolition of capital punishment. Governor Hoch, of Kansas, declares that he would rather resign his office than sign a death warrant, averring that capital punishment is a relic of barbarism. While there is a radical difference of opinion upon the subject of the entire abolition of capital punishment, yet here is a very general expression of opinion against the execution of women.

The Enquirer propounds the following question: "If Mr. Harding had taken the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor would he have been elected?" This actuates the Youngstown Vindicator to remark that the question might be referred to Congressman Grosvenor who since election has professed to have known all along in the campaign just what the result would be.

GENERAL TIE-UP THREATENED

Arrest of the Strike Leader Rouses the Workmen's Ire.

BLOODY CLASH IN STREETS

Two Persons Killed and a Number Wounded in a Fray at the General Postoffice—Indignation Meeting Held at Which the Government is Denounced—Another Crisis.

Warsaw, Dec. 11.—The ferment among the troops is increasing. A hundred soldiers of the Kexholm regiment headed a procession singing revolutionary songs. In Marzalkowska street their way was barred by a detachment of the Grochowski regiment, the commander of which ordered his men to fire. The soldiers refused to do so and permitted the procession to pass. The commanding officer then fled. A rumor is current that the whole garrison of the Warsaw citadel has mutinied.

St. Petersburg, Saturday Evening, Dec. 9.—A general strike throughout Russia may follow the action of M. Durnovo, minister of the interior, in throwing down the gauntlet to the labor organizations by arresting M. Krustaleff, president of the executive committee of the workmen's council. About 2 p. m. several companies of Cossacks clattered through the streets leading to the headquarters of the council in Targovaya street. Having barred the approaches, a force of troops and police surrounded the building, after which secret service men rushed in and seized Krustaleff. The latter made no resistance, and the affair was conducted quickly. It was impossible for Krustaleff to conceal the papers of the organization, in which the police evidently expect to find evidence proving the ultimate effect to be an armed uprising against the government.

The news of the arrest of Krustaleff created an immense sensation among the workmen. All the Socialist, labor and kindred organizations are holding a meeting, at which most inflammatory speeches are being made in denunciation of the government, and all are talking of a general strike in order to save their leader. Krustaleff, as he is called, though that is not his name, is regarded as the brains of the revolutionary movement. He has displayed genius in organizing both the industrial and political strikes which have terrorized the government. His offer of financial support to the telegraphers prevented a collapse of their strike. In an interview yesterday M. Krustaleff said: "It is probable that a general strike will be declared just after Christmas. Delegates who were sent to all parts of the country report that the proposal for a strike has been welcomed with enthusiasm, and in fact that the whole country is ripe for revolution. A vast majority of the workmen are true revolutionaries. Preparation for an armed rising is well advanced, but it can not hope to succeed unless joined by a considerable body of troops. The propaganda in the army that the revolutionaries are justified on counting on sufficient support from that source to ensure victory. The peasants everywhere are willing to join the revolutionaries."

Beside Krustaleff three other members of the workmen's council were arrested.

First Blood in Strike.
A disturbance in which two strikers were killed and a policeman and several others wounded occurred at the same hour immediately in front of the general postoffice. The strikers for two days have been seeking to persuade the volunteer and regular carriers to refuse to work. At the door of the building the strikers, enraged by the refusal of the volunteers to quit, drew knives, whereupon a carrier attempted to defend himself with a revolver. Both the carrier and a companion were killed on the spot. A squad of policemen was stood off by the strikers and workmen who sympathized with them. Both sides exchanged a fierce fusillade, during which a policeman and several workmen were wounded.

The government seems to have succeeded in tiding the treasury over the present crisis, although the method by which this was accomplished shows to what straits the government has been reduced. The emperor has approved a decree authorizing the State bank to discount $50,000,000 in exchequer bills, which is permitted by the regulations of the bank, but it savors of the character of a forced loan.

Many persons believe that Count Witte's fall is imminent, and that when he goes he will leave reaction and revolution face to face. It is again rumored that the premier already has resigned and will be succeeded by General Count Alexis Ignatieff. Another rumor is to the effect that Lieutenant General Mistechnko, one of the heroes of the war in Manchuria, who is now on his way to St. Petersburg, will assume the dictatorship.

Storm Warnings.
Washington, Dec. 11.—Storm warnings are displayed on the lower lakes. Lake Huron, eastern Lake Michigan and the extreme eastern Lake Superior.

STATE NEWS

Columbus, O., Dec. 11.—Henry L. Stanley of San Francisco, who has been in Columbus the last few days arranging a vaudeville circuit and trying to secure a local theater, announced the names of the towns which will form the circuit. He said: "We have already leased houses in Cleveland, Toledo, Sandusky, Springfield, Dayton and Cincinnati. To this list will be probably added houses in Findlay, Marion, Akron, Ft. Wayne and Columbus. We will be able to get the best talent, because the actors will look kindly on the circuit because of the shortness of the jumps to be made."

Taggart Case.
Wooster, O., Dec. 11.—The date for the hearing of the motion for a new trial, made by Mrs. Taggart, has been fixed by the court for Dec. 19. Captain Taggart was in court. Among the affidavits filed in support of the motion for a new trial was one in support of Judge Eason, and for the motion for a new trial, was one in which allegations are made as to the conduct between a well-known attorney and a newspaper man here during the trial. The attorney and his brother came into the courtroom and vigorously denied the allegations.

Stockholders Sued.
Cincinnati, O., Dec. 11.—George W. Harris, a bondholder of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, brought suit to assess stockholders of that corporation. J. Pierpont Morgan was immediately notified of the suit, for, as holding the majority of the stock, he is responsible to that extent for the debts of the concern. The proceedings are under the old Ohio statute which provides for a double assessment of stock to pay corporation debts.

Fatal Explosion.
Lancaster, O., Dec. 11.—An explosion occurred at the Springfield natural gas pumping station, 10 miles south of this city. Milton Leith, day foreman, was killed, and Charles Morris and Daniel Bumgardner were injured slightly. The building was wrecked. The accident was caused by the 8-inch gate on the high pressure line blowing off when the engine started.

Iron Manufacturer to Retire.
Springfield, O., Dec. 11.—Thomas Morris has resigned as iron tester at the Springfield Malleable Iron company after a continuous service there of 33 years. Mr. Morris is the inventor of the process of making malleable iron used in this country, having perfected it while in Glasgow, Scotland, nearly 50 years ago.

Liquor Dealers Indicted.
Deshler, O., Dec. 11.—The Henry county grand jury threw a bomb into the ranks of liquor dealers of the county by indicting 38 of 62 saloonists for keeping open on Sunday, selling to minors, and other offenses against the liquor laws. There are 88 indictments against the 38 men.

Workmen Killed.
Steubenville, O., Dec. 11.—Chester Thayer, 19, of Northumberland, W. Va., was caught in a belt while working in a sewer-pipe and was whirled around, his head striking a partition and fracturing his skull. Death ensued three hours later at the hospital here.

STRIKE IMMINENT.
Increase of Pay Denied Engineers and Firemen.

Waycross, Ga., Dec. 11.—A strike of locomotive engineers and fireman on the Atlantic and Birmingham railroad is imminent. The engineers and firemen of the road are nearly all members of the two brotherhoods, and these organizations have authorized a strike. H. B. Wills of Cleveland, O., assistant grand chief engineer, and Timothy Shea of Peoria, Ill., assistant grand master fireman, have been in the city several days representing the engineers and firemen in negotiations that have been in progress. An increase in salary and a contract were requested several days ago of Vice President George D. Wadley, and refused.

Fire at Nashville.
Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 11.—Fire in the overall factory of O'Bryan Brothers damaged stocks and building estimated at $75,000. A stiff wind was blowing and for a time it looked as if the Methodist publishing house and several large wholesale establishments were doomed, but they escaped with nominal damage.

DR. SHEPARDSON MEMORIAL SERVICE

CONDUCTED BY DR. BALDWIN IN BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

Prof. Williams Assisted and Quartet Sang—Floral Tributes Numerous and Beautiful.

Granville, O., Dec. 11.—Mrs. Mary Smith Shepardson, accompanied by Dr. Francis W. Shepardson of the University of Chicago, and Prof. Geo. D. Shepardson of the University of Minnesota, arrived in Newark at 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning, bringing with her the ashes of her husband, Dr. Daniel Shepardson, the "Wheel Chair Evangelist," who died in Honolulu, H. I., on November 25, after a short illness of typhoid-malaria. On account of the great difficulties connected with the transportation of a body 6,000 miles, and in accordance with the usual method of the islands, the body was cremated. Mrs. Shepardson made the trip from Honolulu to Newark in 11 days, or over 545 miles a day.

The interment was made in the family burial lot at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the burial being private. In the afternoon a large number of the friends of the deceased, both from Newark and Granville, assembled in the Granville Baptist church, where Dr. C. J. Baldwin preached a beautiful memorial sermon at 4 o'clock. Dr. C. L. Williams also assisted in the services. The beautiful music for the occasion was furnished by a quartette consisting of Mrs. Burton Case, Miss Blinn, Messrs. Walter Beattie and Harold Thomas, with Miss Benedict at the organ. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. The discourse by Dr. Baldwin was a fitting tribute to the life and work of this good, useful and brilliant man who crowded more usefulness into ten years than he was confined to the wheel chair than many a man accomplished in a lifetime. During the discourse reference was also made to the helpfulness of his faithful, devoted wife, whose courage and fortitude in this supreme test of faith has been wonderful.

The closing prayer was made by Rev. C. L. Williams, of Denison University. The members of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity of which Dr. Shepardson was an honored member, were present at the services in a body. A large number of friends came up from Newark to attend the services.

The deceased leaves three brothers, Francis W., George D., and Ernest, who is teaching in Dixon Academy, Covington, La., and two sisters, Mrs. Pomeroy of Boston, and Mrs. Thorne of Baltimore, Md., and his mother, Mrs. E. S. Shepardson of Granville. Dr. Baldwin spoke from the text, "For to me to live in Christ and to die is gain." Dr. Baldwin said in part:

This passage and its context were the favorite daily reading of our brother who is now with Christ in God. It expressed at once the aim and the inspiration of his life—to embody in himself the spirit of his Master and so secure that new incarnation which the Son of God is always effecting in the character and life of his followers.

"Dr. Shepardson's career illustrated this principle from first to last. He had been rarely endowed by parentage, receiving from those honored persons whom we all remember with love, a high mental and moral quality, an intense personality, and an enthusiastic devotion to the true, the beautiful and the good. It was on this basis that he acquired an equipment of scholastic culture which rendered him an expert interpreter of the Scriptures peculiarly apt in the exposition and application of Bible truth.

"But the professional life which opened with such bright promise was suddenly interrupted by a severe dispensation. He was prostrated in a way which threatened to disable him permanently for public usefulness. As such most persons would have accepted this grievous affliction and have sunk beneath it into mere helplessness.

Invalidism. But Dr. Shepardson was familiar with the examples and teachings of the new testament.

If a large part of his life seemed to be taken from him, the remainder was correspondingly intensified and developed. His mental and spiritual powers became the sole issue of his nature and as such they were quickened and enlarged. Faith, hope and prayer became his habitual exercises. The word of God was his hourly contemplation and thus he hourly on a plane of exalted experience which was the best possible preparation for public service. His very disability was a pathetic appeal to the sympathies of people which drew them to his ministry and opened their hearts to his preaching. . . . But he could never have accomplished so much labor and endured so much had he not been provided with an assistant in the person of a help-meet who supplied what he lacked with unfailing devotion and efficiency. Her loving ministry and practical usefulness were a large part of his success, and will always be remembered with admiration by the many who are grateful for his services. . . . In that far off isle of the sea, beneath those gentle skies everlasting spring abides, in the midst of strangers and aliens who had been drawn to him by the gospel and made his friends, he found the door of Paradise opened to him, and he passed through it unto the joy and reward of his Lord. And, we all say, "Well done, good and faithful." Not for us now to chant the dirge or weep with hopeless melancholy. Rather, let us rejoice in the blessed future of a spirit freed from the weariness and painfulness of mortal ills, and lifted into the glorious liberty of the immortals there to serve God with unhindered powers throughout the everlasting years. Be it for us to cherish the memory of this sorely tried and triumphant life and to find in it a source of inspiration for our own use in bearing the burdens and fighting the good fight which the divine discipline may assign to us."

GREAT SORROW

In Hawaii Over Dr. Shepardson's Demise—Followed Wishes of Husband in Cremating Body.

Mrs. Daniel Shepardson, who arrived in Newark from Honolulu on Sunday morning, after a tiresome journey of twelve days, was called upon by an advocate reporter Monday, and in speaking of the death of Dr. Shepardson stated that the residents of the portion of the island visited by them, used every possible effort to lighten the burden of sorrow and responsibility resting upon her.

Dr. Shepardson had been speaking for eight weeks at different missions throughout the island, most of his congregations being made up of English-speaking people. The principal mission, which is non-sectarian, is known as the Central Union church, has a seating capacity of 2,000, and is every way the finest edifice on the island. The population of Honolulu is made up generally of the descendants of missionaries, who have settled there, and represents quite an amount of wealth. A large number of Japanese inhabit the island, but are in the employ of the richer class, principally as servants.

On the third week of the arrival of Dr. and Mrs. Shepardson, a hospitable reception was tendered them, and they were received with a great amount of pleasure by the inhabitants of the island. Dr. Shepardson, whose death occurred at 6:30 on Saturday, November 25, had been suffering for about three weeks from typhoid malaria, which caused his death. The funeral service which was conducted at the Central Union church, where the Doctor had spoken so often, was attended by every representative of the people on the island, the large church being crowded. Mrs. Shepardson states that she has never witnessed such general sadness as was seen and expressed at the funeral of Dr. Shepardson, and that never before had she known the language of tears so truly as when natives, who could not speak her language, came to her with tears streaming down their cheeks and extended the hand of sympathy and respect.

The floral offerings were beautiful beyond description, and the great love of this foreign people was expressed very fittingly in their beautiful tokens. Immediately following the ceremony the remains were taken to the crematory where they were incinerated according to Dr. Shepardson's request.

Mrs. Shepardson was accompanied on her return trip by Miss Florence R. Yarrow, the assistant pastor of the church, who was appointed by the people to be a companion to her to San Francisco. The returning vessel left Honolulu port at 10 o'clock. At 6 a. m. the following morning, Miss Yarrow was attacked with appendicitis, and was under the care of Mrs. Shepardson during the entire trip, when she was placed in a hospital at San Francisco upon landing, where she will undergo an operation. Mrs. Shepardson was unaccompanied from San Francisco to Chicago, where she was met by the two brothers of the late Doctor. Professor Frank Shepardson of the University of Chicago, and Professor George Shepardson of the University of Minnesota, who accompanied her to this city.

TOO LATE

For Reconciliation Now and the Steel King's Wife Will Insist on a Divorce.

Pittsburg, Pa. December 11.—Pittsburg relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ellis Corey do not believe that the conference held at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York between Mr. Corey and Charles M. Schwab and his wife for the purpose of effecting a reconciliation between the Coreys will amount to anything. Friends of Mrs. Corey declare that the affair has gone so far. Had the attempt been made a week ago before the details of the case were published in the papers, there is no doubt but that Mrs. Corey would readily have consented.

Each day the prospects of the selection of William B. Schiller, president of the National Tube company, as president of the Steel Trust to succeed Corey, grow brighter. The steel men of Pittsburg who are interested in the corporation financially have definitely settled on him as the practical man to take the place. Mr. Schiller is about 43 years of age and remained a bachelor until four years ago. He was a protégé of H. B. Crosby, the millionaire president of the National Tube works. Mr. Crosby lived in a palatial home in Allegheny and when his wife died some years ago he was left practically alone in the world. He had two nieces, one of whom was a Mrs. Burdette, of Boston whose husband has just died, leaving a young widow and one child. At the earnest solicitation of her uncle she came from Boston and became his housekeeper. It was while serving in that position that Mr. Schiller met and fell in love with her. They were married soon afterward and when Mr. Crosby died, Mr. Schiller was elected to the position of president of the Tub company. When the will of Mr. Crosby was read it was found that he had left the greater part of his money to his niece, who then was Mrs. Schiller.

New Uses For "Old Clogs."

A movement is now on foot among Yale men to rid the university of the "old clogs" pests—in other words, men who hang around the campus for the purpose of buying the cast-off garments of the students, says a New Haven dispatch to the New York Tribune. The majority of the men of the academic department have agreed to turn over their cast-off clothes to the Rev. H. Roswell Bates of New York city, who is working in the slums of the metropolis, and the Sheffield Scientific school will follow suit or will follow with its suits in a few days.

The animals were not hit by the bullet, and thus it was a lucky shot.

MODERN METHODS

Improve a Remedy That Was Always Peerless in Its Line.

"We are told that the great popularity of Vinol is due to the fact that it is really a new form of a time-tried and old remedy, cod liver oil, now by an elaborate modern process produced without oil, delicious and doubly potent."

We wish every one could realize the fact that Vinol is not a patent medicine. It is simply a new way of administering the curative elements of cod liver oil.

There is no one living who will dispute the merits of cod liver oil as a tonic builder of the human system. The trouble has been that but few people could take cod liver oil, on account of the greasy, obnoxious taste and terrible odor.

With Vinol, however, everything is changed. By a modern method of chemistry you get all the medicinal curative elements found in cod liver oil, in a highly concentrated form, and best of all, without a particle of grease, which has no value, either as a food or medicine.

The reason Vinol can accomplish so much more good than cod liver oil or emulsions, is because it is so easily assimilated, the weakest stomach can retain it, thus it enriches and purifies the blood and strengthens every organ in the body to do its work as nature intended.

In all cases of chronic coughs, bronchitis, severe colds, run down condition, loss of appetite, all derangements of the stomach, etc., we guarantee Vinol to cure or return your money if it fails." Frank D. Hall, Druggist.

A SERMON ON SPORTS THAT KILL

REV. T. L. KIERNAN SHOWS THE EVILS OF OUR NATIONAL SPORTS.

But at Same Time Points Out Their Good Qualities—Plea Made for Purification.

Rev. T. L. Kiernan, pastor of Plymouth Congregational church delivered an exceptionally interesting discourse on Sunday evening upon the subject, "Sports That Kill, or the Ethics of Athletics."

Rev. Mr. Kiernan took for his text, Timothy 1: 6: 17, "Take heed unto thyself." In his discourse the speaker showed that humanity is now in a great ethical revival, which is being characterized by sanity and common sense and is evident in politics, in the commercial life and in college life. He used as a general example the question so much in agitation recently, which resolved itself into the following queries: Shall the self respecting young man continue to play football? Shall the professors and boards of directors allow football? Shall the man of means continue to endow colleges? Shall parents send their boys to college to be killed?

Rev. Mr. Kiernan showed the evils of our national sports, and pointed out their good qualities as well, calling attention to the great benefits of out of door sports, the strengthening of the will, teaching mind and body to act together, greatly augmenting the work of the mind by giving it a good body.

The closing of the sermon was a plea for the purification of our sports and for the uplifting of the moral side of athletics.

He closed by calling attention to the fact that we must know ourselves, what we are made for, and order our lives balanced by the standard of the Master.

Miss Clara Madden added greatly to the musical program with a beautiful solo.

200 STATEHOOD
BOOMERS PRESENT

LARGEST LOBBY THAT HAS EVER STRUCK WASHINGTON NOW AT WORK.

Ozark Pig as Mascot is Making Himself at Home in the National Capital.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Probably the largest lobby that has ever struck the capital is on the ground now, working for Oklahoma and Indian Territory's joint statehood bill. All told there are over 200 of the statehood boomers and although they are not familiar with the ways of Washington they are getting along pretty well, for strangers. Even the "razor back" Ozark pig which they brought along as a mascot has regained his appetite, which he lost for ten minutes after arriving and is becoming the terror of Pennsylvania avenue fruit stand owners. He has been named "Statehood." The delegation has adopted the motto "root, hog or die."

The crowd from the territories will remain here in a body ten days. During that time it will storm both houses of congress, members of the cabinet and the president. They demand statehood unhampered by any probation clause or other provisions limiting the power of the citizens to govern themselves.

Child Labor Law.

Columbus, O., Dec. 11.—Already 53 arrests have been made in the state for violation of the child labor laws during the crusade inaugurated three weeks ago by State Factory Inspector Morgan and the work has just begun. A state organization, subordinate to the national child labor committee will be formed at a conference here Tuesday of leading advocates from various centers of industry in Ohio. The object of the committee is to secure more perfect child labor laws and support their enforcement. Mr. Morgan will point out the difficulties in enforcing the child labor laws that the organization may benefit by his experience.

CLUB WOMEN PREFER POODLES

TO CHILDREN SAYS RABBI IN AN ADDRESS DELIVERED AT AKRON, OHIO.

Pastor Likens Modern Femininity to Diamond in Shirt Bosom of Corpse.

Akron, O., Dec. 11.—Akron club women were shocked when Rabbi Isadore Philo of the High Street temple, told them in plain language that the average American club women think more her poodles than they do of their children, and that children these days are more often accidents of nature than the fruits of conjugal love.

Rabbi Philo had been invited to address the local council of women of the First Church of Christ.

His subject was "The American Club Women." When he had finished his denunciation of the club women he walked down the aisle and sunk into a seat in the rear of the church. He was soon surrounded by members of the club, all clamoring to get in a word in reply to the charges made against club women. They said that he had the wrong impression of members of women's clubs.

"I know hundreds of club women and there is not a poodle among them," hotly replied Mrs. William Murdock, vice president of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs.

"We may not have as many children as they had before us, but they are more intelligent," put in Mrs. Ross Reid. Then others had something to say, and their replies became so vigorous that the rabbi slipped through a side door to the street to escape the storm his criticism had caused.

"The American club woman is a female anachronism," said Rabbi Philo. "She reminds me of a diamond in the shirt bosom of a corpse; it stands out dazzling against the dead matter it adorns. If she is a stranger to her children—she has a young and her poodle is the object of more caresses than either her children or her husband."

"The latter is the silent partner who foots the bills and draws his satisfaction from the fact that his name appears on the calling cards of his wife."

"The American club woman is the most undomestic and un-American of all American women. She is not womanly. Womanliness is woman's most glorious dowry. When she loses that she is less than a man. Woman is the crowning glory of all creation. Motherhood was the divine purpose of her creation. Cradles have gone out of style, as well as what they were intended for. Children today are more often the accidents of nature than the fruit of conjugal love and fidelity. Because, forsooth, it is more fashionable to ride in a carriage than to wheel a baby carriage. The advent of progeny is the highest gift within the dowry of womanhood. It is, or rather should be, the highest object of matrimony."

"Maidens, fair and otherwise, please take advice. I earnestly advise you to exhaust every fair means to ingratiate yourselves in the affection of some good fellow, even if this head be minus the normal amount of fluffy appendage called hair, and in spite of the fact that he has cut his wisdom tooth."

"Better a bald headed man with beaming and a home full of dresses, feasting and singleness. Because I firmly believe that the home, the first and essential unit of the social structure, must have a mother at the head of it, if both mother and home are to bring into happy consummation the divine purpose of their institution."

"Shall woman improve her mind? By all means, but not at the expense of the heart. I abhor the top-heavy woman. Such a woman is neither man nor woman."

"By all means improve yourselves, but remember that the world needs womanly women more than intellectual females. Whatever will contribute toward the making of better, purer homes, toward the many good, honest, upright men and women, it should be your concern to study and to do."

Newark Lawyer Sets Example That Others Smokers Would Do Well to Follow.

One of our most prominent lawyers has made a resolution that he recommends to other smokers, without asking any fee.

For years he has been smoking ten cent and fifteen cent cigars and often without getting one that was satisfactory. When in J. W. Collins & Sons store a month ago, they recommended a 5c cigar, Wadsworth Bros.' Chicos, and the result is that he has resolved to buy no other cigar, for he knows that he is getting a better cigar than he has heretofore bought.

Other smokers should follow the example. The Wadsworth Bros.' Chicos is made from the best Havana tobacco, not flavored or doctored in any way, and is better than cigars that are usually retailed for double the money. Drop in at J. W. Collins & Sons today and get a Chicos.

ROBERT FULTON

Laid to Rest on His 61st Wedding Anniversary—Burial in Cedar Hill.

Robert Fulton, who was born in Berkeley county, Virginia, about twelve miles from Martinsburg, March 1st, 1819, died at his home in Cherry Valley, Dec. 9th, 1905, at the age of 86 years, 9 months, and 8 days. He was the son of Robert and Jane Fulton and a brother of John M. and William Fulton and Mrs. Jacob Hartshorn, Mrs. Mary, and Nancy McMillen, wives of John H. McMillen of Cherry Valley.

His parents emigrated to this country from Ireland and in the year 1811 settling in Virginia. In 1826 they moved with their family to Licking county. Mr. Fulton was a lad of seven years when he came to Ohio and in his later years delighted to relate circumstances connected with his boyhood days when this country was a wilderness. He was married to Jane Keeran, December 10th, 1844, with whom he lived to celebrate their 59th wedding anniversary.

They are survived by two sons John W., who lives near the home place, and William L. of McPherson Kansas; and one daughter, Mrs. O. B. Young, who lives on the home place. Besides these there are a great number of grandchildren and great grandchildren. He united with the Second Presbyterian church about the year 1870 where he was a faithful attendant until his infirmities would no longer permit. He was laid to rest on his 61st wedding anniversary, and just one year from the day of the burial of his little grandchild, Dorothy Young.

The funeral took place from his late home Sunday afternoon at 1:30, Rev. T. A. Cosgrove officiating. Interment was made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

WM. B. WHEATCRAFT.

William Brothers Wheatcraft was born October 16, 1846, in Perry county, Ohio and died November 13, 1905, in McHenry township, Licking county, aged 57 years. He came to Licking county in 1872; was married to Miss Hannah King of Perry county, March 14, 1889. To this union one son was born, who died in infancy. A bereaved widow, mother, one brother, four sisters, with many friends, mourn their loss. The community at large has lost a good citizen, an honest man, very kind to the needy, a good kind neighbor.

The writer, often in conversing with him, found his conception clear with reference to biblical question, concerning man's duty to man and his Creator. For the last few years the Bible seemed to be on his mind. He enjoyed conversations on his teachings, realizing his time on earth was short.

Farewell, beloved and true friend, in sadness we lay thee away to rest, until the last trumpet sounds, when we hope to meet thee again and clasp glad hands on the eternal shore.

PRISON GUARDS ARE ATTACKED

Hundred and Sixty Convicts Make a Dash for Freedom.

SCORE WOUNDED IN FRAY

Mutineers Finally Overpowered by a Platoon of Artillerymen That Hurled to Assistance of the Guards. Three Prisoners Receive Mortal and a Dozen Serious Injuries.

Havana, Dec. 11.—The convicts in the penitentiary mutinied and a fierce fight between them and the guards followed, in which two of the prisoners were mortally wounded, 16 more or less seriously wounded and three of the guards badly injured. The convicts finally were subdued by troops.

The convicts, to the number of 160, were proceeding from their quarters to supper in charge of only one officer, who was armed with a revolver, and three guards who carried machetes. The prisoners suddenly rushed upon the guards and overpowered them, taking their machetes. Then the officer fired, wounding several prisoners. He was seized by the convicts and roughly handled. Hearing the shooting, four more guards armed with guns came on the scene and fired into the crowd of convicts, driving them back. The arrival of a platoon of artillerymen completely cowed the convicts and rendered further firing unnecessary. The prisoner contains more than 1,300 prisoners.

The Elder Dempster line steamer Agnola, Captain Johnson, sailing between Canadian, Cuban and Mexican ports, sheered off on entering the harbor in a heavy sea and is grounded hard on a coral bottom a little inside Morro castle. Owing to the heavy sea the pilot was unable to go on board the vessel, which had but little storeage way when she entered. The ship, which is in a sheltered location, will have to be lightered before she can be floated.

LIFT BOYCOTT

Will Chinese Merchants If Their Demands are Granted.

Hongkong, Dec. 11.—At a meeting of the boycott committee of the Chinese guilds and American merchants here the former drew up demands, the granting of which, they said, would be necessary to bring the boycott to an end. The guilds demand among other things the definition of the term "laborer," and that legislation affecting Chinese must have the approval of the Chinese government. They ask the admission of Chinese laborers to the islands of Hawaii and the Philippines, provided the local authorities are willing, and the admission of the families of Chinese residents, the importation of females being safeguarded. They also want the readmission to the United States of Chinese who have been deported for non-registration, on proof of their possession of property in that country or that they are creditors there.

Relieving Her of Blame. "No," said the housekeeper. "I have nothing for you. I have made a vow never to give anything to tramps."

"And I wouldn't for the world have you break your vow, madam," replied Horace Hasben. "My request was a mere matter of form. As I intend to help myself, suppose you turn your back while I'm thus engaged."—Philadelphia Press.

A Fattile Enterprise. "Don't you think there is a great deal of nonsense about Christmas?" asked the cynic.

"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne. "But I don't know of anything more nonsensical than going through life trying to avoid nonsense."—Washington Star.

Appreciative. Swigges—My wife is putting up some branched peaches this season. Brizges—Are you fond of them? Swigges—No; but I appreciate the spirit in which she does the work.—Chicago News.

Getting Me. "Don't be afraid of me, miss," said the barber. "I wouldn't kill a flea."

"No, I don't think you would," said the bright girl. "It takes a clever man to kill a flea."—Yonkers Statesman.

CREWS RESCUED.

Vessels Go Ashore in a Gale That Sweeps the Coast.

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 11.—The day has been strenuous for the lifesaving crews at Kiltihawk, Kili Devil and Nags Head stations. The first two battled against a terrific sea for several hours in an effort to reach the stranded steamship Aragon, and finally succeeded in shooting a line across the vessel's decks. After this the entire crew of 21 men were brought safely to shore in the breeches buoy. The Aragon is high on the beach. She was bound from Norfolk to Georgetown, S. C., light, and towing the barge Goddard. The Goddard was also light. In the storm the vessels encountered outside the capes they became separated, and the Aragon went ashore. The barge finally stranded two miles north of Nags Head. The Nags Head lifesaving crew brought ashore her crew of five men in the breeches buoy.

Lightship in Distress.

Newport, R. I., Dec. 11.—While the Nantucket South Shoal lightship, No. 58, chained to a spot far out in the North Atlantic, was plunging about in the severest storm so far this season, a leak was discovered in the fire-room compartments which let in the water so steadily that when wireless communication ceased the vessel had been extinguished and the vessel was helpless. As the lightship, which is a relief vessel and which went on the station only five days ago, is equipped with only five water-tight compartments, it is believed by the lighthouse officials that she would survive the gale. Nevertheless every effort was made to go to her assistance. The lightship officials in Boston dispatched the lighthouse tender Azalea from New Bedford. The lightship Nantucket is commanded by Captain Jorgensen of Dennis, Mass., and carries a crew consisting of two engineers and eight men. She has also on board three wireless operators attached to the navy.

AMUSEMENTS

CRESTON CLARKE.

The coming of Creston Clarke, in his big success of last season, "Beaucaire," the beautiful comedy romance by Booth Tarkington, may well be placed among the most auspicious theatrical events thus far scheduled for this city. Mr. Clarke's reputation as one of America's leading star actors is now substantially established and this fact, combined with the record of the magnificent and gorgeousness of the "Beaucaire" production, warrants the highest expectations from the coming engagement of Mr. Clarke in this city.

HEIR TO THE HOORAH.

Observing authors like Owen and Alfred Henry Lewis, have pointed out in a certain sense that cowpunchers of long experience are always well-legged. They get that way from spending most of their time astride a horse. Theatregoers will note that Ben Higgins who plays Gus Ferris in "The Heir to the Hoorah," and Frank Campeau who plays Trampus in "The Virginian," both present a rear leg view like a pair of parentheses. Whether they had their legs bent to live up to the characters, or whether they were selected for their respective roles by reason of their idiosyncrasies is not important so long as the artistic utilities are preserved.

HOIBSON LECTURE.

More than ordinary interest is already being manifested in the lecture by Captain Richard Pearson Hoibson, in the Y. M. C. A. course next Thursday evening, December 14. Hoibson has great audiences wherever he goes. Not so much because of his fame as a naval hero, as from the fact of the splendid reputation he has won as an orator and lecturer. He undertakes to discuss a great thing, "America's Slavic Mission," and shows a remarkable insight into international affairs in the way he handles the theme. As one puts it who recently heard him, "His eloquent utterance, culture, breadth of thought and comprehension of world wide questions bore the charm of revelation." It is an opportunity to hear a great man, for that is what the Captain is more than proved himself to be, deliver a great lecture, as press echoes from many states testify.

Seats are being reserved at the Y. M. C. A. office at 50c.

TIM MURPHY.

A trust controls "A Corner in Coffee." That would seem perfectly natural if it were not for the punctuation. It's quite in the way of trusts to create corners and control as it is necessary a commodity as coffee. But "A Corner in Coffee" is a play and the trust which controls it is not one of the sort with the inflated abdomen and dollar marked suit and the common people is not an insignificant pigmy running to shelter. This trust was created so that the people might enjoy "A Corner in Coffee." The story was written by a clergyman. Tim Murphy read it and realized at once that here was material for a great character and a great play for him. His fear was that the Rev. Mr. Brady might not be willing to have his story acted in the theatre. When he went to call on Mr. Brady, however, he found the reverend doctor had a dramatization all ready, and was delighted to have Mr. Murphy act the role of Elijah D. Tillotson. It was only then that the troubles began. Others claimed the dramatic rights. Weeks were spent by Mr. Murphy in an effort to clear up the title to the play, while all the claimants were begging him to act their versions. Finally, other means having failed, they agreed to a trust so that Mr. Murphy might make his production of "A Corner in Coffee." All the royalties accruing from the comedy are paid the trustees and he holds them pending a decision from the court as to who owns the dramatic rights to the story. Mr. Murphy will present "A Corner in Coffee" at the Auditorium soon with a splendid cast and production.

CONCERT-RETIAT.

The concert-entertainment which was postponed last Friday evening will be given next Friday evening, December 15. Mr. Gabriel Tidd the concert-historian, has this event in charge and has a very excellent program in store. Mr. Tidd has toured with the Katherine Ridgeway concert company, the New York opera company and the Laura Ford song company, the latter being a southern company. Assisting Mr. Tidd, as whistler, are Miss Mary Pentz, pianist; Miss Elsie Hirschberg, contralto; with Miss Sabine Hirschberg accompanist, and Mr. Daniel C. Comp, reader and impersonator. Seats are for sale at the Y. M. C. A. office at 50c.

GRANVILLE NEWS

Granville, O., Dec. 11.—The members of the Kappa Phi Sorority have recently had another occasion for being especially grateful and proud of their adopted father, Mr. A. F. Banks, of Evanston, Ill. Mr. Banks, who made the acquaintance of this jolly bunch of girls over a year ago, at the time of Mr. Jones' house party, forthwith proceeded to adopt the entire sorority, and has since manifested on several occasions his fatherly affection for his daughters. Christmas is usually the time Mr. Banks has taken as his opportunity to give joy to his daughters, and this year he has sent them a gift which has delighted the hearts of all of them. It is a very handsome chafing dish, thoroughly modern, and a gift which will be put to practical use by the enthusiastic girls.

Saturday evening the members of the Chi Psi Delta initiated into their sorority the Misses Bertha Fulton, Bertha Latimer, Lella McKibben, Ruth Davenport, Clara and Gertrude Wright, Blanche Bushnell, Margaret Jones, Edith Williams, Bertha Rector, Alva Edwards. The alumnae, Misses Gilpatrick of Granville, Lella Holcombe of Cornett, Elsie Husted of Norwalk, Esther Williams of Columbus and Louise Jones of Newark, were present. A delightful supper was enjoyed after the initiation, in the sorority rooms.

Phi Gamma Delta will entertain with a Christmas party on Tuesday evening, December 12.

LUTTBEG & ACKERMAN TO MEET ON THE MAT

Columbus, O., Dec. 11.—Max Luttbeg, the wrestler came from Newark to Columbus Saturday night and agreed to accept the challenge of Al Ackerman for another wrestling match, best two out of three falls. There is considerable feeling between these two men and each has accused the other of being a "quitter." Ackerman heard of this talk on Luttbeg's part and offered to post $100 that he could defeat Luttbeg, making it everything for him to lose and nothing to gain.

He will post the $100 with The Dispatch and each wrestler will have to put up $25 for his acceptance. The match will be pulled off in Columbus for the members of the Southern Athletic club and their friends free of charge. This ought to draw with the intense rivalry of the two men as a magnet.

THE GREAT CHRISTMAS TRADE.

The Christmas buying this year promises to be of extraordinary proportions. It began early and now, two weeks before the holidays, it is approaching its height. With the memory of the buying crush of other years before them, many wisely set out to buy this year, while the stocks are unbroken, and before the clerks are weary. This is the way to get not only the best goods, but the best service.

There is another reason for the wisdom of early buying this year. It is found in the general prosperity of the country. Practically everybody has money to spend, and the demand for holiday commodities is going to be in excess of the supply. Heretofore it has generally been possible for a retail merchant, if his stock was exhausted in the middle of the buying season, to order more from the wholesaler or manufacturer, and get it. Generally speaking, this will be impossible this year, for the wholesalers' stocks have been exhausted at the first call.

Manufacturers have repeatedly advised us that they can make no more shipments until after the holidays.

These are facts which people will do well to consider before it is too late. Those who buy discriminatingly with due regard to the tastes or needs of those to whom presents are given will find delay in buying to be especially hazardous this year.

We suggest you start Tuesday AND LOOK AT

CALENDARS

Which Mr. Brubaker Has Been Distributing Among His Friends No Good in 1905.

A number of the friends of Peter Brubaker are enjoying a capital joke at the expense of the jovial feed merchant. It is told that Mr. Brubaker on a certain day of last week, strolled into the office of J. F. Hartshorn, the insurance man, and observing a bundle of bright calendars lying on a nearby table, requested Mr. Hartshorn to give him some of them for his family and a few neighbors. Mr. Brubaker presented several of his friends with the new calendars and was evidently bent on hastening the approach of the new year for more friends, when one of the neighbors kindly called his attention to the fact that the calendars were for 1905. Mr. Brubaker still has a few left.

After waiting seven years for Chas. H. Evans, the son of the late Solomon Evans, to appear, the Methodist church of Rochester, N. Y., became the beneficiary to the extent of $25,000 under the will of the elder Evans who died in July, 1898.

RESCUED FROM DEATH ON TRACKS

JAMES FRAZIER OF NEWARK, PULLED ASIDE IN NICK OF TIME.

Helplessly Intoxicated He Rolled Upon Track In Front of a Train.

Just as a cut of cars went whizzing past, James Frazier of Newark, helplessly intoxicated, was pulled off the railroad tracks beneath the High street viaduct by a switchman and a couple of boys Sunday evening at Columbus.

Officer Lee, stationed at the Union station, sent Frazier to the city prison.

Frazier it is said, went to Columbus Sunday on an excursion train from Newark, and, instead of mounting the steps and leaving the Union station by the route designated for passengers, started west on the tracks immediately after leaving the coach.

He was seen to go part of the way up an embankment beneath the viaduct, where he fell, apparently in a drunken stupor, later, rolling down upon the track.

He is on his way to Indianapolis, it is said, where he intends to join his family.

MR. TAKAHIRA

Washington, Dec. 11.—Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister, left Washington for the Pacific coast, by way of Chicago, and will sail in about 10 days for home on an extended leave of absence from which his return is problematical. There was a large crowd at the station. If Mr. Takahira returns to Washington it will be as the first ambassador from Japan.

No false preense has marked the career of Ely's Cream Balm. No idle promises of rewards for cases it will not cure. Being entirely harmless, it is not responsible like the catarrh snuffs and powders, for minds shattered by cocaine. MAGISTRATE

Refused to Punish Men Caught Stealing a Ride, and Roasts the Railroad Company.

New York, Dec. 11.—Thos. Haley, of Randolph, Mass., and John Taylor, of Lawrence, Mass., were arrested on Sunday at Yonkers by Detective McNamara, of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, charged with stealing a ride on a freight train. When arraigned before Magistrate Crane in the Morrisania police court, the detective asked that they be sent to the workhouse.

"What for?" demanded the magistrate angrily. "For stealing a ride. I suppose?" If you had in your clothes all that that road of yours had stolen you'd be the richest man in the world today. A corporation like the New Haven thinks it can do what it pleases and take what it pleases.

"You want me to send these men to the workhouse for stealing a ride?" Well, I won't do it. That road of yours which charges five times as much for freight as it ought to and ought to help a man when he is down and out, instead of trying to send him to prison."

The magistrate then discharged the men but told them to wait around and he would see if he couldn't get them jobs somewhere.

"And if I can't today, I will Monday," he said. "Meantime I will give you enough money to keep you going until then."

BROKEN BANKER

Asks That He May Be Taken to the Penitentiary To Begin his Sentence at Once.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 11.—Otho L. Hayes, convicted Galion banker, is anxious to get in the penitentiary to begin his term of seven and a half years. He says he doesn't want an appeal taken in his case, and at his own request he will be taken to the big prison on Wednesday. The prisoner is a broken man, feeble in health and has been doubly discouraged by the failure of former friends to come forward with bail.

Flickinger, Hayes' associate in the Galion crime, and like him sentenced to the penitentiary, has been more fortunate in the matter of bail, and thus far has succeeded in keeping out of jail. He will remain at liberty until an appeal is made and passed upon.
